Abstract
Stock certificates and other documents related to the sale of the Normal School to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP) was founded in 1875 as Indiana State Normal School, a state-chartered, privately held institution, which was sold to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1920. ISNS became a four-year undergraduate college and was renamed Indiana State Teachers College in 1927. ISTC became Indiana State College in 1959, which achieved university status in 1965 and became Indiana University of Pennsylvania.
